Thank you for your briefing and letting me know about this beforehand. However, I don't think we should go with [redacted] It is simply not feasible. I can almost guarantee you with 100% that Dr. E. Zecutive will not be having any of this change in the budget allocation. You already know how he can be sometimes, and I don't wish to have any more fights in the meeting room (such as the one last week).

All is not completely lost however. If my memory is serving me well, I think the guys at the Exotic Fruit Department were working on something similar. Although I am not officially authorized to hand out user accounts, I could perhaps give you temporarily access to my personal account so that you can quickly have a look. You must agree to not tell anyone about this though, we could be fired on the spot for this.

Best regards,
Ms. V. G. Tables
